Curriculum and Program Features

Our courses meet or exceed the University of California minimum admissions standards. The Assistant Head of School, arts department chairs, and college counselors work closely with students to guide them on their path to college, university, conservatory, or professional work.

Students will also fulfill the requirements to earn an arts certificate in addition to their diploma. Though expectations vary by major, all students complete a comprehensive study of the history, theory, and practice of their art field. Students are active members of their departments: they participate, create, rehearse, design, and perform collaboratively. Seniors work towards a culminating artistic project.

The innovative curriculum at Idyllwild Arts provides students with opportunities to explore subjects in greater depth and independence. Special programs include:

Accelerated English Program (AEP): The Accelerated English Program provides quality instruction to non-native English speakers so that they may meet the academic requirements for graduation prescribed by the University of California admissions standards. Students gain proficiency in oral and written English so that they can succeed in mainstream academic courses.

Arts Enterprise Laboratory (AEL): The Arts Enterprise Laboratory provides students with grants to fund new works of art. Students can write a grant proposal to receive AEL funding for an artistic project. The proposal asks students to consider all aspects of an artistic production including design, implementation, budgeting, and marketing.

Art in Society: The Art in Society program encourages young artists to consider social engagement and the way artistic and creative thinking can inspire positive change in the world. Students who successfully complete the program graduate with the distinction in Global Arts, Action, and Social Entrepreneurship. Requirements include attending seminar events and participating in community service.

Creative Technology: The Creative Technology Program allows students the opportunity to engage with new and emerging technologies and explore the ways those technologies can be integrated into the arts and their lives. Students learn laser cutting, virtual reality, 3D printing, drone operation, robotics, CNC routing, and Arduino boards.
